Southern California Edison attracts inventive people. Why not? Look whose name we're using.

Thomas Edison is a legend because he had a "break-through" mind. Our 9,700 specialists work for you in his tradition.

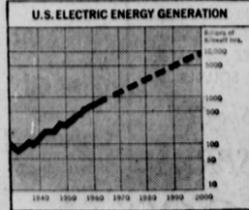

They're not content with bringing you today's abundant low-cost power. They're planning way beyond the year 2000 — reaching ahead to make miracles a commonplace part of your life in the future.

Southern California Edison can't help attracting such people.

As one of America's leading investor-owned electric utility companies, we offer a direct challenge to people with "break-through" minds.

These are the types of men and women whose individual efforts have been responsible for the remarkable progress of America's investor-owned utility industry, here and across the nation.

Just look at the picture of America's power production, projected to the year 2000.

Investor-owned electric companies help U.S. outproduce next 6 nations combined!

With only 6 percent of the world's population, the United States generates more than 37 percent of the world's electricity. U.S. production in one year exceeded the combined output of the next six countries — and was almost three times that of Russia.
